

TIPS MANAGEMENT / HUMAN RESOURCES

PAPER: NEW STRAITS TIMES

DATE: 29 OCTOBER 2013

PAGE: C24

MINDSETS OF SUCCESSFUL ENTREPRENEURS

PEOPLE who run businesses and are successful in the long term have developed an entrepreneurial mindset. Some people think they are born with this asset, and they might be; but you can learn if you don't have it already, and this can help you achieve a lot more business success.

Being a good entrepreneur does not mean you are more intelligent than others, or have more education. Some of the most successful entrepreneurs don't have more than a high school education, so don't let your perceived lack of abilities or opportunities turn you away from the chance of owning or running a successful business.

However, becoming an entrepreneur is not easy. There are some qualities that are absolutely necessary to overcome the challenges in your business ventures. Knowing these qualities can help you become a successful entrepreneur. Here are some characteristics of a good entrepreneurial mindset:

1 Common Sense and Good Judgments - These are the foundation of a successful entrepreneur. They have the ability to make sound judgments and solve daily problems by understanding complex issues in simpler terms, and getting to the core of the problem.

2 Driven and Persistent - Entrepreneurs are persistent and they do not quit easily. A successful entrepreneur seizes opportunities to create something new, and expects a positive result; whether to grow an idea into a viable business, or take an existing business and improve its performance. Successful entrepreneurs are persistent and hardworking. They master self-discipline and are committed to do whatever is necessary to achieve their goals.

3 Self-confidence - Self-confidence is a key to entrepreneurial success. In business, it is easy to become demoralised, frustrated, and resentful. A successful entrepreneur believes in his abilities and he is not afraid to take risks and make difficult decisions.

4 Problem Solvers - Entrepreneurs are problem solvers. They are most effective when solving problems with a team. They understand their limitations, and seek outside help to implement the changes and solutions.

Entrepreneurs are also good at delegating, as they move forward with their vision.

People with an entrepreneurial mindset don't let things get them down. They see every problem or challenges as opportunities or stepping stone towards their business progress.

That is what keeps an entrepreneur going, because they have such great determination.

5 Creativity - Creativity is the ability to use your insights and come up with new solutions to old problems, getting things done in a different ways, or finding a totally different approach for conventional things to work.

Entrepreneurs need creative thinking ability and each new product, each marketing method, and each business decision, is fertile ground for creative thinking.

6 Leadership - Successful entrepreneurs are capable of leading people and getting work done. They use a combination of methods from effective motivation, planning, coaching, and evaluation to lead people forward. They are concerned about the well-being of others and get along with them well.

7 Self-reliance - Entrepreneurs take full responsibility for their actions. By being proactive, they set goals, rely primarily on their own resources and abilities; and walk the extra mile to achieve them.

- Compiled by 1Klassifieds Team